

Walter Receives Decoration From Netherlands

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Representative Francis E. Walter yesterday was awarded the Order of Orange-Nassau by the Netherlands Government "for distinguished services to International Migration."

The decoration, which carried with it the rank of Commander of the Order of Orange-Nassau, was presented on behalf of Queen Juliana by the Dutch Ambassador, Dr. J. H. van Roijen.

The order is given to Dutch subjects or foreigners who have made outstanding contributions to the welfare of the people of the Netherlands and to mankind in general.

The government of the Netherlands stated that the honor came from Walter's work through the intergovernmental committee on European migration. In moving thousands of the victims of floods in the Netherlands and refugees from the Dutch East Indies to new homes in Canada and Australia.

The intergovernmental committee on European migration which Walter was instrumental in establishing in 1951, has been responsible for the resettlement of more than a half-million people from areas of population surplus. Now composed of 21 nations of the free world, ICM is considered the most positive solution to the problem of international migration.

Both Democratic and Republican administrations have designated Walter as American delegate to the semi-annual meetings of ICM. The current session is the only one that he has not been able to attend.

The award—in the form of a cross with eight beaded points ringed with a continuous laurel wreath and with a royal crown between the arms—was made at a ceremony at the committee on the judiciary of the House of Representatives.

In attendance were officials of the Netherlands embassy and leading officials of the United States government, together with a number of Walter's associates.

Khrushchev Maintains Age Of Ballistic Missiles Has Made Warplanes History

MOSCOW, Oct. 8 (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev said today manned warplanes are no match for Russia's intercontinental ballistic missile — "The age of bombers is over."

"They might as well put bombers and fighters in the museum," he commented, citing Soviet scientific achievements.

"Our intercontinental ballistic rocket shows that it is no good sending humanly controlled machines against missiles."

The Communist party chief's words were reported by two British members of Parliament who talked with him 80 minutes.

Quote

They quoted Khrushchev as saying "it is dangerous" for the United States to take the view it is dealing with a present country.

The British M.P.s, Conservatives Cyril Osborne and Capt. Henry Kerby, said Khrushchev told them ICBM is "only one of the many things we are doing."

Assessing this missile has made warplanes obsolete, Khrushchev said:

"This all points to the fact we have even more things up our sleeves. You can't send human flesh and blood to fight things like that."

Osborne, who visited the United States two months ago, told Khrushchev the United States has rockets capable of hitting a field from 3,000 miles. The Communist boss made no comment on that.

The Soviet leader, who returned last weekend from his vacation near Yalta, added his own words to the thousands being piped abroad by Moscow radio on the Soviet success with an earth satellite and its effects on world politics.

At an East German Embassy banquet last night, he voiced a warning to Turkey.

Khrushchev's remarks were reported by Communist correspondents. Western newsmen were barred.

Banquet

He told the banquet he had reliable information that Turkey had massed strong forces on the Syrian border.

"Turkish leaders have not been very sensible," he said. "They have concentrated so many Turkish forces against Syria that they have left their frontiers with us almost bare."

"They had better have a good think about this. When cannon start to shoot and rockets to fly it may be too late."

There must be no war, he said—not even local ones, because they will be difficult to contain.

Earlier Khrushchev told a New York Times correspondent that the Soviet Union wants international control of earth satellites and all pilotless missiles.

Tobyhanna Township Selects Gerald Hanna For Contest

GERALD HANNA of Blakeslee yesterday was nominated by the Tobyhanna Township Volunteer Fire Co. for Monroe County fireman of the year in a contest sponsored by The Daily Record.

Hanna, 35, is owner and operator of Windy Corners Restaurant and Service Station. He is also an institutional representative of the Boy Scouts and an ambulance driver.

Glenmore Hayes, company secretary, in a letter accompanying the nomination, wrote: "Mr. Hanna has housed the fire equipment for several years in his garage in the western end of the township at no expense to the township.

"He has spent a considerable amount of his time in helping to fight fires in the Long Pond area in the past few years."

"He has also given much of his time to company projects such as the annual carnival and drills."

Hanna has attended six of eight meetings held by the company. He has been at nine of the 10 drills and five of the six actual fires.

Happiest Birthday For 'Little Boy Blue'

LAKEVILLE, Mass., Oct. 8 (AP)—Little Boy Blue, a sick and lonely youngster who once thought he had no friends, found he had thousands today as he celebrated his ninth birthday in a dream-come-true party.

A million dollar cast on a closed circuit live television show and thousands of persons across the nation joined to cheer the lad who only a week ago thought nobody wanted him.

Little Boy Blue—also nicknamed Francis "X" at Lakeville State

Sanatorium—is a victim of muscular dystrophy. His mother is dead and his father is in prison for killing her.

The hospital has declined to identify the child by name. Francis hasn't much strength, but he managed to blow out his birthday candles, cut the cake and open a few of his hundreds of presents.

Eyes Pop

His big brown eyes nearly popped when comedian Jerry Lewis stepped before a TV camera in Hollywood and dedicated an all-star show to "my one boy audience."

The youngster beamed when Lewis opened the show with a song entitled "There's No Francis Like My Francis" and he never stopped smiling after that.

Francis was a Lone Ranger mask and cuddled a cloth monkey as he sat reveling through the magic hours. Lewis, the funnyman who is most serious as the national chairman of the Muscular Dystrophy Assn. of America arranged the private show with Gen. David Sarnoff, board chairman of the Radio Corp. of America.

Joining Lewis were such entertainers as Tennessee Ernie Ford, Eddie Fisher, Eddie Cantor, Dinah Shore, comedian Pinky Lee, Hugh O'Brian, better known to TV audiences as Wyatt Earp; James Arness, the Marshal Dillon of the Gunsmoke TV show; the Mouseketeers of Walt Disney's Mickey Mouse show; singer Mary Costa, the Skylarks singing group and Lou Brown and his NBC orchestra. The cast of the hour long show presented Francis with a television set which will be flown to Lakeville.

Lonely

A week ago, as he faced a lonely birthday, Francis wistfully told a doctor that he didn't want much, maybe just four or five cards. Dr. Kurt Jellinek, assistant superintendent, let the pathetic request be known, and the story touched the heart of the nation.

More than 150,000 cards and letters poured in, many of them containing money. Toys and candy, radios and television sets, games and other gifts by the truckload came into the hospital. Offers of help by telephone flooded the hospital's switchboard.

Talkative

Gifts and goodies were piled high in the hospital's recreation room as Francis "X" was wheeled in and 80 other kids—waiting in wheel chairs—sang a lusty "Happy birthday to you."

The king of the day who up to now had never had a hospital visitor, was smiling and talkative through the din of festivities. Dr. Jellinek liked that.

"This has done wonders for the boy," he said. "A week ago he wouldn't respond and now he has a will to live."

Donations, when the huge pile of mail is opened, are expected to reach upwards of $10,000. Hospital officials said the money will be placed in a trust fund for Little Boy Blue.

No Signals Received From 'Moon'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (AP)—The U.S. Naval Research Laboratory reported tonight it has not received a radio signal from the Soviet earth satellite since 4 p.m. EDT. It said indications are that the satellite's radio batteries have been exhausted.

At the same time a Navy spokesman conceded the batteries might be recharging or even that radio transmissions might have been cut off by Russian scientists directing the historic experiment.

"You would almost have to be up there to know," the spokesman said. "It is possible to turn them (the batteries) off and on; we have considered it for our own satellites."

The Navy's loss of the satellite's radio signal followed reports from listening stations in other parts of the world that the speeding sphere had quit beeping.

A Moscow radio report picked up in London acknowledged that signals from the satellite may

Bulletin

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (AP)—Radio signals from the Russian earth satellite began coming in again late tonight after being silenced for about six hours.

stop due to exhaustion of its batteries. But it announced observations will continue "with the aid of optical instruments and radio locating stations."

Prof. A. A. Blagomiravov, a Soviet scientist visiting Washington, said last Saturday he thought the batteries would last more than two weeks.

RCA communications in New York reported their monitoring indicated that a part of the satellite's radio mechanism may have broken down—although the possibility of some Russian ground control was also raised in this connection.

The Navy's minitrack headquarters sent a message to all ships and stations requesting continued monitoring for a 12-hour period.

It said the Navy's worldwide string of listening posts would continue to operate for at least another 24 hours in hopes of picking up fresh signals.

Changes in the eerie voice of the Russian man-made moon, led to widespread scientific speculation.

Dr. Hans Karl Paetzold, a leading German scientist, said the speeding sphere appeared to be losing altitude and might strike the earth's denser atmosphere within hours and burn up.

Reporting from the Max Planck Scientific Institute at Ravensburg, Germany, Paetzold theorized the satellite may already have encountered denser air and friction transmitters. He said the radio signals were not heard in Germany today.

Scientific opinion here appeared to discount any theory that the high flying career of the Red globe may be drawing to an end.

U.S. tracking stations continued their efforts to fix the orbit of the satellite, and an attempt to photograph it will be made from Harvard, Mass., tomorrow. The Russians have said they expect their moonlet to stay up a month.

A spokesman for the Naval Research Laboratory here said that agency had nothing with which to confirm or deny Dr. Paetzold's belief that the satellite is dying.

"Some of our reports show a steady (deep) transmission," he said. "In other cases there is distortion."

The Navy has nine listening posts around the world, established principally to track a U.S. satellite after it is launched.

Harriman Names Negro Judge

ALBANY, N.Y., Oct. 8 (AP)—Gov. Averell Harriman said today he would designate Justice Harold A. Stevens as the first Negro member of the appellate division, second highest court in the state.

The Democratic governor said Stevens, a Manhattan resident who was the first of his race on the State Supreme Court, would be named at the end of the year.

Hearings To Settle Issue On Highway

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (AP)—Public hearings will be the next step in an attempt to settle a controversy over location of a proposed new U.S. Route 11 Expressway between the Scranton and Harrisburg, Pa., areas. Bertram D. Tallamy, federal highways administrator, said today.

"We will make no determination here on going ahead until agreement is reached in the state," said Tallamy.

In view of a protest against the routing already selected by the Pennsylvania Highways Department, it is mandatory under the law that hearings be held, Tallamy said, but added:

"They will be held in the state, and by the state."

His announcement was made to a delegation of more than 25 representatives of civic and industrial and labor interests in the anthracite region of Pennsylvania. They came here to urge final approval of the state's proposed route.

Journey

Their journey was made necessary, the members said, to refute arguments presented by a previous delegation which had urged the bureau of public roads to reconsider the routing, with a view to placing the proposed expressway closer to the present route 11.

The proposed change would mean a swing along the west side to the Susquehanna River, including its north branch, from the Scranton-Wilkes-Barre area to Sunbury and then to Harrisburg.

The state's route, already approved largely by the bureau, would carry the road in a more easterly direction, through Schuylkill County to the vicinity of Indiantown Gap, near Harrisburg. It is part of an over-all rebuilding of route 11 between Binghamton, N.Y., and Hagerstown, Md.

As part of the government's long-range interstate roadbuilding program, 90 per cent of the cost would be paid with federal funds. Tallamy suggested to today's group, headed by Rep. Fenton (R-Pa.), that it prepare material to be presented at the hearings in support of its case.

He suggested also that contact be made with Pennsylvania's newly-appointed highways secretary, Lewis M. Stevens, to see whether he will reaffirm the routing laid out under ex-secretary Joseph M. Lawler. Lawler now is a member of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission.

Due to arguments presented Sept. 18 by a group headed by Paul R. Eversly of Bloomsburg, Tallamy said, a review of the entire proposal was undertaken, but he added:

"The route is still the route the state has chosen. The mere fact that we have heard another group does not mean we have changed our mind."

Two Perish In Accident

ALLENTOWN, Oct. 8 (AP)—A coal truck sideswiped another today on Route 29 a mile and a half west of nearby Schnecksview causing the death of two men.

State police identified the victims as Paul Miller, 40, of Lynport, driver of one of the trucks, and George McFarland, 29, of Lehigh, R.D. 2. McFarland was believed to be riding in Miller's truck as a helper.

The Democratic governor said Stevens, a Manhattan resident who was the first of his race on the State Supreme Court, would be named at the end of the year.

He who stands high in his own estimation is still a long way from the top.

Report For Chest Leaders

COMMUNITY chest leaders will hear reports from division chairmen today at 4 p.m. at a meeting in the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

It will be the second official report meeting for the heads of industrial, professional, public service, trade and resort divisions.

Clifford Cramer, campaign chairman, will preside at the meeting. He will be assisted by Ethel D. West, Chest executive secretary.

Going into this week, the Chest had attained slightly more than 10 percent of its 1957-58 goal of $78,243.

Chest leaders this week began to emphasize their 1957 theme: "Go All the Way With One Day's Pay" more heavily than ever. It is a slogan which accurately reflects the needs of the Chest's 12 agencies, Cramer told division heads.

Chest workers will point out to donors that the costs of operating all social and welfare agencies have risen during the past year. But this is not the only reason that the Chest's goal has been raised.

All agencies within the Chest are providing more services today than at any time in their history. Chest leaders say. New needs within the community are now being met for the first time and with each added service the cost of operating the agency must rise, Chest officials point out.

For this reason, employees and management in industry, especially, are being urged to double their efforts. Cramer points out that "nearly every person in every factory, store, business or home in Monroe County benefits in one way or another from one or more of the Chest's 12 agencies."

The Chest is now also urging employers with 10 or more workers on their payroll to allow employees to use the payroll-payment plan. This permits the employee to designate a large sum of money which is then withheld from his check in weekly or monthly "installments."

Judge Cuts Term After Strong Plea

NEW YORK, Oct. 8 (AP)

—Jack Sobel, who for a decade headed one of Russia's biggest spy rings in this country, was sentenced today to seven years in prison.

He could have gotten 10 years. But Sobel, after his arrest last Jan. 26, underwent an apparently complete change of heart. He said he deeply regretted betraying his adopted country and helped federal authorities trace the far-flung web of the espionage ring.

Sobel's wife, Myra, 53, and Jacob Albam, 64, another conspirator, had previously been sentenced to five and a half years in prison.

Federal Judge Richard Levett today reduced Mrs. Sobel's sentence to four years, and Albam's to five.

The Sobels, seated close together in court, glanced nervously at each other. Albam seemed stunned.

Remark

Levet said "there is, I believe, strong indication of remorse on the part of these defendants in varying degrees. Rehabilitation is not a factor here. In this instance we must aim at protection (of society) and deterrence."

"I have weighed these actors, studied presentence reports, conferred with counsel and considered security. I have examined a medical report regarding Jacob Albam, sent from Lewisburg Prison, and he does have physical difficulties, but they can be capably treated while he is confined."

A week ago, Sobel made an emotional appeal for mercy before the same judge. He said then, "I cannot forgive myself. I had plenty of opportunity to straighten out my life since I came to this country and I didn't do it. It is very hard for me but I know what I did to this country which never did any harm to me and which gave us refuge which could have made us happy and respectable citizens."

Under the original indictment, the Sobels could have been sentenced to death.

U.S. Ready To Talk With Russia

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles disclosed tonight after meeting with President Eisenhower that the United States is ready to talk with Russia about international control of space missiles.

However, Dulles held to the U.S. position that any such talks would have to be held within the United Nations.

Offer

Dulles told newsmen at the White House the United States is hopeful Russia will accept a Western proposal to study means of making sure objects sent through outer space will be used only for peaceful purposes.

In what appeared to be a major reversal of U.S. policy, Dulles offered to consider space control apart from the highly controversial questions in the West's Aug. 29 disarmament package plan.

Dulles made this offer less than six hours after a State Department spokesman had said any talks with Russia about international control of space missiles would have to be part of the package plan.

Syria Charges Turkey With Threat To Mid-East Peace

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Oct. 8 (AP)—Syria told the United Nations tonight that Turkey is threatening peace by massing troops on the Syrian border.

In a letter to Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld, Syrian Foreign Minister Salah Bitar said the Turkish troops prejudice good relations between Syria and Turkey. He asked that the letter be circulated to all U.N. member nations.

The complaint was lodged under provisions of the U.N. Charter that deal with the bringing of threats to international peace to the attention of the U.N. The letter did not request formal consideration at this time.

Action

The Syrian action followed two reported clashes on the Turkish border in the past four days. Turkey has claimed a buildup of Soviet arms in Syria threatens its security. Syria and the Soviet Union have charged that Turkish troops are a menace to Syria.

Lebanon, one of the most pro-Western of Arab nations, said it would stand united with the rest of the Arab world in any conflict with the Western powers.

Lebanese Foreign Minister Charles Malik told the United Nations General Assembly the situation in Syria gave concern to some governments, but he avoided any direct reference to Soviet arm shipments to Syria or to charges that the Syrian government had fallen under Russian domination.

Lebanon was the last Arab nation to speak during the Assembly's general debate.

McLean, 66, member of a father-son newspaper team long prominent in the affairs of the AP, is president and publisher of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

McKelway, 62, has been a director since 1949 and first vice president since last April.

McLean will continue to serve on the AP board of directors.

Election

McKelway's election made him the third president of the AP since reorganization in its present form in 1900. The first, who served from 1900 to 1938, was the late Frank B. Noyes, publisher of the Washington Star.

U.N. To Open Debate On Disarmament

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Oct. 8 (AP)—At the urging of both the United States and Russia, the United Nations agreed today to begin immediate detailed debate on disarmament.

The action was taken in the 82-nation Political Committee, where U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge declared "we want no time lost" in discussing disarmament, "the most urgent problem of this Assembly."

Beginning

Soviet Dep. Foreign Minister V. V. Kuznetsov declared that "The most important, the most urgent issue before us is a solution of the disarmament problem."

While the Soviet Union and the United States were in rare agreement on procedure, they remained far apart on how to achieve disarmament.

The debate will begin Thursday. Before the committee acted India's V. K. Krishna Menon urged in the General Assembly that the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain express joint willingness to suspend nuclear tests as a first step toward disarmament in the new "international planetary age."

Menon said a suspension of tests could be monitored by a U.N. agency.

Absenteeism Normal In Stroudsburg, East Stroudsburg

Two Schools Close In Roseto

SLIGHTLY more than 10 per cent of the 2,050 students in the East Stroudsburg Area Joint Schools were absent from classes yesterday, while 8½ per cent absences was reported in the Stroud Union District.

Carl T. Seor, supervising principal of East Stroudsburg, said 280 pupils were absent yesterday. Earl F. Groner, Union district superintendent, said 218 of the district's 2,344 students were absent.

Same Time
At the same time, a parochial and an elementary school in Northampton County were closed yesterday as absences showed a sharp increase.

Pope Plus X Parochial School at Roseto was closed after 50 per cent of its pupils failed to report for classes Monday.

Sister Ida, school principal, said bad weather yesterday contributed to the decision to close the institution. She said it had been anticipated that more than the 50 per cent would be absent.

Father Gennaro Leone, school administrator, said there will be no classes today.

Also closed yesterday was Mount Carmel Elementary School, also in Roseto.

In Bangor Area schools, absences totaled 398 yesterday, compared to 444 Monday, while Pen Argyl reported 784 absent yesterday against 810 Monday. There were 200 absences among the 712 students in Bangor High School.

Figures
Groner, releasing figures for all schools under his jurisdiction, said under normal Fall and Winter conditions, absences often run between 10 and 15 per cent due to colds or virus infections.

His breakdown showed 10 out of 244 absent at Arlington Heights; 53 of 327 at Clearview; 76 of 459 at Ramsey; 14 of 300 at Morey; three of 32 at Anamink and two of 42 at Delaware Water Gap.

$335 Damage In Wreck On Route 611

DAMAGE totaling $335 resulted from an accident at the Delaware Water Gap base of Fox-town Hill at 4:35 yesterday.

Stroudsburg State Police report that Arthur D. LaBar, Stroudsburg RD 2 and August Kreuzes, Mountaintop RD 3, near Wilkes-Barre, escaped injury in the two-vehicle mishap.

Police estimated damage to Godfrey's 1941 truck at $35 and $300 to Kreuzes' 1957 sedan.

Driving North
Both vehicles were proceeding north on Route 611 at the time of the accident, police report. A tractor-trailer passed the two vehicles and Kreuzes followed the trailer around the LaBar truck.

But, due to rain and poor visibility, LaBar failed to see the car and made a left turn to enter a road leading to Cherry Valley at that point.

Damage was inflicted to the car at the right front corner post and windshield and to the left rear of the truck. There were no personal injuries.

Doebling reported that the two men were arrested in Middle Smithfield Township on Saturday for using artificial lights while in the possession of a loaded rifle. Both were "jack-lighting" deer, Doebling added. Bernardo and Beers pleaded guilty during a hearing before Justice of the Peace Daniel H. Middaugh, Middle Smithfield Township.

Milk Producers Ask Price Hike

AREA MILK producers have joined in asking an emergency increase in the price of their product.

Drought conditions and the rise in costs in commodities they use in their own industry are cited as reasons for the request.

A local spokesman for the Lehigh Valley Cooperative Farmers, Donald DeOtte, told The Daily Record last night: "A Monroe County disaster relief committee under the supervision of County Agent Arthur Ifft surveyed crop losses and existing feed conditions as of Sept. 1 this year."

"A summary showed conditions based on a normal year's production as follows: Hay, first cutting, 64 per cent; hay, second cutting, approximately 12 per cent; corn for husking, approximately 15 per cent; corn for silage, 36 per cent; pastures since July 1, two farmers estimated 10 per cent; all others reported zero; normal milk production dropped an average of 28 per cent."

"Winter feeding of cattle started about July 1. Rainfall during June, July and August was 38 per cent of normal and was reported as the worst in 80 years."

"The committee, in a letter to the state disaster committee, recommended that the county be declared a disaster area. However, all such requests from Pennsylvania were disapproved in Washington."

"Approval would have permitted farmers in distressed areas to borrow funds to purchase necessary feed at three per cent interest, to purchase certain surplus grains at $1 per 100 pounds under existing market prices and to purchase hay from nearest surplus areas with the government paying the cost of transportation."

"This latter item would have been of the greatest benefit. The Daily Record recently published an item from Meadville stating that farmers nearby had a surplus of hay for sale at $20 a ton."

"Two of us phoned the county agent, who advised us the hay was of good quality. However, investigation showed the lowest cost of transportation to Monroe County would be approximately $18 per ton, making the price to us $38 a ton, a price which we cannot pay under the existing price for our milk of approximately 10½ cents a quart."

"There is a steadily rising tide of feeling by dairy farmers that a substantial increase in their price for their milk must be made immediately if they are to remain solvent and that the only immediate remedy is an increase in the retail price for milk."

"Two bad years in a three-year period certainly justify increased prices. Nearby New Jersey retail prices have increased from two to three cents a quart higher than in the Allentown-Boylehem-Stroudsburg area, with the explanation that drought conditions made it necessary."

"A recent federal milk hearing in Philadelphia produced overwhelming evidence of the need for higher farm prices and led three members of the Pennsylvania Milk Control Commission to comment that it was evident that retail prices in all drought areas would have to be revised upward."

"So far no action has been taken in our area and farmers are being very severely hurt. This morning the driver of our Lehigh Valley milk pickup truck reported two more farmers dropping out of the dairy business."

"Stroudsburg businessmen can appreciate our predicament when I say that we are now receiving 11 per cent less for our product than we did in 1948 and cost of production, outside of drought conditions, has increased 38 per cent."

Meanwhile, at a Pennsylvania Milk Control Commission hearing in Allentown, other producers declared: "The milk farmers are going broke from this drought."

Dealers said recent contracts with employees have involved 10 per cent increases and boosted their milk cost by 11 cents per hundredweight. Dealers did not specify how much the increase should be. The regular fall increase, allowed by commission rules, brought the price to 25½ cents per quart.

Howard Lutz, vice president of the Lehigh Valley Cooperative Farmers, said that heavy hay and corn crop losses made it necessary for farmers to pay premium prices for extra feed.

Other factors cited were increased purchase of hay, extensive renovations to barns, milk houses and other buildings.

YMCA Board Emphasizes Chest Drive

THE NECESSITY for extending full support to the current Community Chest was emphasized last night at a meeting of the Monroe County YMCA Board of Directors.

The discussion followed receipt of an appeal from Mrs. Sally Fansler, co-chairman of organizations for the drive. She urged every member of the YMCA, along with the directors and others affiliated with the association, to do all in their power to put the $78,243 fund drive over the top.

Her sentiments were echoed by E. Holt Wyckoff, president of the Chest; Alex Bensinger, president of the YMCA Board, and by John R. Wilson, general secretary.

The Chest represents 12 agencies and is something very real, not just a name, said Wyckoff. He urged every organization to be represented at the kickoff meeting which opens the final phase of the drive next Monday night.

Tribute
He paid high tribute to Clifford Cramer, campaign chairman, for the intensive planning he had done over the past several months.

Wilson said $13,500 in Chest funds have been earmarked for the YMCA this year. This is almost one-third of the association's operating budget, said Wilson. By way of contrast, the general secretary recalled that in 1943 the Chest contributed 78 percent of the YMCA's operating funds.

Bensinger noted that the YMCA is the largest single beneficiary in the Chest program and therefore the drive deserves the association's fullest support.

In other matters, Wilson reported increased interest in women's and girls' activities at the YMCA this fall. He mentioned specifically the classes in sewing, public speaking, ballroom dancing and religious history and the physical programs.

The board approved the action of its personnel committee in hiring Robert Wilson as Barrett Branch executive and as boys' work secretary. He succeeds William McDonnell.

The Barrett board has recommended that a full-time secretary be appointed for that branch as soon as practical. The county directors felt that such would be possible as the Barrett membership continues to increase.

Wilson reported that Stroudsburg Hi-Y Club will be host to 200 boys at a district older boys conference Dec. 6-8. The entertainment and guidance programs are now being arranged, Wilson added.

Dates For Bird Seasons

JOHNS DOEBLING, Monroe County game protector, yesterday announced dates for hunting migratory birds.

The season for woodcocks will be from Oct. 15 to Nov. 23, while ducks and geese may be shot from Oct. 15 to Dec. 23.

Hours
Hunting hours are one-half hour before sunrise to sunset with the exception of Oct. 19 and Oct. 26 when no hunting is permitted before 8 a.m., Eastern Standard Time.

The two dates mentioned are the opening dates for small game season.

Commissioners Seek Zoning Information

IN AN EFFORT to find out how many sixth and seventh class counties in the Commonwealth now have planning or zoning commissions in operation, Monroe County Solicitor L. A. Achterman has written letters to each of them.

Achterman reported the following to County Commissioners this week:

Monroe is a seventh class county. There are 14 others in the State. Letters of reply from seven other counties the size of Monroe show that none of them have "either a planning or zoning commission."

Among those answering Achterman's inquiry, he said, are "several which are considerably larger than Monroe."

There are 16 sixth class counties. These are all larger than Monroe, he said. He has received answers from five of them. Four of those have no planning or zoning commission at all. The fifth—

Bradford—has a planning commission only, Achterman said.

"Up to the present time," he told Commissioners, "we've had no replies from any county indicating that it has planning and zoning commissions in operation. One or two have indicated to me that they are studying the possible need for such commissions."

Commission Chairman John Lesoine noted at the meeting this week that "an Allegheny County they have zoning ordinances in only one place—and that's to prevent the construction of skyscrapers at the end of Pittsburgh airport runways."

Commissioners have been asked to provide funds for establishment of a Monroe planning-zoning commission. The funds would finance the services of a paid consultant firm.

County commissioners have maintained that no funds were set up in the budget for the current year. At the same time, Lesoine suggested that the members of an already-established planning-zoning commission (set up by previous county commissioners) go ahead and complete a local study of the actual needs for planning and/or zoning before hiring a professional firm.

Lesoine said that the members of the locally-established commission "are all capable men with good ideas" and that they "should be able to decide what they feel should or must be done as an overall goal for planning or zoning."

The chairman emphasized that he was not recommending that the local members be responsible for the actual planning or zoning of the county but that they should be able to lay the groundwork for establishment of the commission.

Small Boards Concerned Over Cost Of Seven-District Slate Belt Jointure

EAST BANGOR—A potential seven-district Slate Belt Jointure is still being held up until smaller boards find out how much the school unit would cost them, spokesmen said last night.

Both Washington Township and East Bangor boards met this week. They took no action on the larger jointure issue. A spokesman said:

"We want to see how much it would cost us. Until then, we don't sign."

A "break" in the stalemate appeared to be forthcoming two weeks ago when two additional members of the Washington board said that they would join two others in pressing for a seven-district jointure. But official action from this board and from East Bangor, Portland and Upper Mount Bethel has still not been taken.

Remark
Stanley Pensyl, East Bangor board president, said that "we just couldn't make a decision this time. We thought we would let it lay as it was." Pensyl repeated that his board voted last July to withdraw from the jointure and "it stands on the books until we adopt another resolution." He said his board thinks it "unfeasible" to go into the jointure because of the "financial setup."

Pensyl said that the seven boards proposed hiring a certified public accountant to survey costs to individual districts. "We voted for it but the three (Bangor, Roseto and Lower Mount Bethel) won't do it," he said.

Russell Sandercock, East Bangor, said: "A study I made in February shows that 48½ percent of the costs would be borne by Bangor, Lower Mount Bethel and Roseto. In those three districts they have better than 20 million dollars in market valuation of taxable property. In the other four we have property with a market value of only 12½ million dollars."

"Our share in the joint operation, based on the present form would be 51½ percent and a span of 7½ million dollars more than they have in their market value."

Main Point
"My main point is that these costs will ruin the economy of the four smaller districts. That's the thing that's really holding us up."

Forrest Sandercock, who is president of Washington Township board, added:

"We don't know what we're signing, so we're not taking any action or any chances. We want to know what we're going to sign. We don't know what it is going to cost us and we don't know how it will reflect on our

Secrecy Attacked

One of the unsung heroes of the constant effort to break down the tendency toward secrecy within federal government is Congressman John E. Moss, a Democrat from California.

As chairman of the House government information subcommittee, he has worked hard to open doors and records that are closed to protect individuals and party rather than national security.

Secrecy in government has been growing for the past 25 years. It had reached a stage where at the will of almost anyone in office, the public is denied information.

Newspapers recognized this great danger to the American way of life some years ago, but until Congressman Moss entered the scene they had little support from anyone in government.

Departments were shielding their operations and mistakes from the public by labeling their records as confidential. The executive branch many times set itself up beyond public study, even refusing information to members of Congress.

Office holders and government employees who had been able to spend and rule without the natural restraint of being in the public eye, now are being brought to task. Many thanks are due Mr. Moss and his committee for their prodding and pushing.

President Eisenhower recognized the danger to some extent by eliminating a number of agencies and offices from the list permitted to operate in secrecy.

There remain more than should be opened to public inspection and through the cooperation of Mr. Moss and the newspapers some of them may yet be opened.

Opinions Of Other Editors

'Portable' Pensions

One of the deep-rooted problems of older workers in industrial plants concerns pension plans as they now operate in Pennsylvania and in other states.

Pensions are looked upon as bringing a measure of old-age security. This, they do. They also tie a worker to his job, sometimes to his disadvantage. If he quits to accept better opportunity he loses his pension. If he holds to his chance for security he loses the chance for advancement.

Recently in Albany, N. Y., Gov. George M. Leader spoke out in favor of a "portable pension plan," which appears to be the same sort of thing which Pittsburgh's Rep. Joseph P. Rigby first advocated in the General Assembly.

The plan would permit a worker, having built up an equity in one employer's pension fund, to transfer it when he changed jobs. Thus he could retain his security and not sacrifice opportunities for advancement.

To quote from Resolution No. 32, introduced by Representative Rigby and others in the House on Feb. 19, 1957: "... Overcoming this problem will do much to aid our economy by lessening costs to employers, protecting and continuing acquired rights of individual workers..."

The problem, on a broad scale, is under study by the Joint State Government Commission, which was instructed to report with recommendations at the next regular session of the General Assembly on establishing a state-wide pension system to cover all persons working in Pennsylvania.

It remained for Governor Leader to attach to the idea an apt descriptive phrase—"portable pension plan." As the Governor says, there probably are some "kinks" in the idea, but it is worth serious consideration.

A "portable" plan would remove the deadening effect of the pension system. It would retain security for the worker without loss of opportunity.

The Pennsylvania Story

Stevens In Limelight

By Mason Denison

Harrisburg — Speculation that 50-year-old Philadelphia Lewis M. Stevens—named only last week as Pennsylvania's new Secretary of Highways—is being groomed for the gubernatorial nod next year is drawing about as much water around Capitol Hill as a floating leaf.

In the first place the appointment was made over considerable teeth-grashing of some of the top old pols of the Democratic Party in Pennsylvania.

Stevens is not viewed by veterans of the cutthroat game of head-knocking politics as even remotely competent of handling himself in anything approaching a major political clinch.

In fact extreme doubts exist among many around Capitol Hill that he will be able to weather the 15 remaining months of his tenure as head of the always politically explosive Department of Highways.

That he should have been named to head up this department, of all departments, has left many a party chieftain with his head in his hands.

Just about his greatest claim to political fame on the political front is the somewhat limp fact that from 1952 until last year he served at a Philadelphia councilman-at-large.

Governor Leader, in commenting on his appointment of Stevens to the highway post described him as an "outstanding administrator, a specialist in governmental matters, and a man of unquestioned integrity."

None will dispute the fact that these are commendable attributes—but it takes far more than this to run the gangling highways department in the way of political acumen, to say nothing of running for governor.

If the Governor's statement is to be taken at face value, the only other "qualification" can be found in this offering by Mr. Leader:

"For many years, Lew Stevens has been vitally interested in highway problems."

The question might well be asked—who hasn't?

So much for the job of Secretary of Highways. It's relative importance at the moment is dictated only by the gubernatorial tie-in with the new department head.

His backing for this potential post comes largely from what might be termed left wing Philadelphia Democrats. Unfortunately for those of the Quaker City, Philadelphia no longer dictates what Pennsylvania will or will not do. Stevens himself is virtually unknown outside of the walls of Philadelphia, and not too well known inside for that matter.

Democrats in 1954 unquestionably had the hand of Lady Luck resting on their shoulder when they slated unknown George M. Leader in his successful gubernatorial bid.

Yet by the same token party strategists know painfully well that another win by an "unknown" is not likely to happen again in several political moons.

No matter how hard Stevens and his colleagues may try he cannot become the "name" candidate Democrats need for 1958. If predictions of party old pols around Capitol Hill hold firm. In fact it is felt he will be fortunate if he can survive the political onslaught of the ensuing 15 months as Secretary of Highways.

As for Republicans, privately they would be delighted to have Stevens as the Democratic gubernatorial candidate—the feeling prevailing that he could quite easily be converted into campaign min-cement.

George Sokolsky Says...

Need Contempt Definition

Rev. Frank P. Beardslee of Glendale, N. Y., wrote to me some time ago asking some questions. One was: "Is liberty protected by mere jury trial, or must that jury be what our Constitution calls 'impartial' to be of any use?"

The jury system is an old one in Anglo-Saxon tradition and is designed to protect an individual from arbitrary and whimsical decisions by a corrupt or cantankerous judge or other official. When a man is tried in open court, before his peers—which originally meant his equals in rank—he has a better chance for the protection of his rights under the law than if he were tried in secret by an officer of the king's court who might have been instructed to have him killed.

The word, impartial, which Rev. Beardslee emphasizes, can only have meaning if the jurors are strangers to the person and the issues of the case and do not care one way or the other whether the fellow hangs.

Nowadays there is less impartiality than in the time of King John, who gave Magna Carta to the English, because most people read newspapers and listen to commentators and their heads are filled with advance information which may be different from the testimony as produced in court under the rules of evidence.

Over half a century of observation, I cannot say which is more truthful, the newspaper stories or the evidence which is based on law.

This also answers Rev. Beardslee's second question, which is:

"Do you feel that deep-south lily-white juries have been or now are impartial about some pleas of Negroes? If not, is it perhaps because a jury should be of a man's peers?"

On that, I should like to ask him a question, namely: Would he expect an all-Negro jury to be impartial? The likelihood is that such a jury would consist of Democrats and Republicans, of honest men and corruptible men, of those who favor their race against all comers and those who try to make a deal for their own advancement, which is equally true among most human beings. Certainly were I a woman who has slaughtered a lover, I would not want an all-female jury; they might sympathize with the lover.

Now, let us go to question three:

"Have those Southerners who shout the loudest about jury trial in contempt cases done anything to bring such a thing throughout their own state laws? If a man does not do something where he can, can we trust his sincerity when he asks us to do it somewhere else?"

I am not sure what I believe about contempt cases. I have seen judges act like cantankerous idiots in contempt cases, particularly when a newspaperman declines to betray a confidence. After all, judges are just plain, ordinary human beings, the same as you and I, and have even tempers or hard tempers, petulances, and a tough time with their wives at home or with a son who knows more than his father because he goes to college and a daughter who wants to marry a bum.

So, you come before a judge in a contempt matter and your life, liberty and pursuit of happiness depends upon how his adrenal and thyroid glands are working that particular moment. Or maybe, he has diabetes or hyperinulinism or any of a dozen old or new diseases.

Or maybe, he feels very good that morning because his daughter gave birth to his first grandson which makes a man particularly mellow, although he in no way is directly responsible for the event. So, the contempt is quashed or the newspaperman gets 30 days for refusing to tell who told him that so-and-so, and that is a good way to put it, got a rake-off on the newly purchased snow-flows, the same having been proved by photographs of cancelled checks, etc.

What we really need is some new definition of contempt. I know several judges well and personally for whose judgment in most matters I must have contempt, although in several instances when I criticized them, they were extra-ordinarily competent men in their field, which just goes to show that a shakedown should not try to make spaghetti.

This Week Marks Many Specials

by Jim Riley

The second week in October is a busy one. In fact, it's extremely busy.

As everyone in this locality knows, it's Fire Prevention Week.

What most folks don't know is the fact that it is also Employment Week, Letter Writing Week, Pharmacy Week and Anti-Freeze Week.

The variety of weeks enables even the most fussy person the opportunity to pick the cream of the list in their estimation.

Yes, there's just not enough hours in a day, not enough days in a month and not enough months in a year.

The modern world is making everyone hustle these days.

The new Daily Record Building, Broad and Lenox Sts., Stroudsburg, is currently having shrubbery and flowers planted around the outside.

It really should be one of the show places of the locality by the time spring rolls around once again.

Dorothy Van Why, Lenape Apartments, Stroudsburg, celebrated a birthday on Monday of this week.

She was serenaded with "Happy Birthday" by some of the most horrid voices this side of a hog calling contest.

Henry Baustein, N. 6th St., Stroudsburg, maintains that the Yankees may be down at this point in the World Series, but they are far from out.

The ardent New York fan was at Yankee Stadium for the second game of the present series.

Dr. Marshall Metzgar, one of the true veteran medical men in this region, is celebrating a birthday today.

Sincere congratulations are certainly in order at this time.

Bob Weisenfue, one of Monroe County's better bowlers, is on the birthday list.

Congratulations are also in order at this point.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Piersall ended their vacation at Pico Manor last Saturday.

They were called to Scranton by the illness of Mrs. Piersall's father.

Jim is the center fielder for the Boston Red Sox.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Gregory, East Stroudsburg, are currently on a trip to California.

Norman is postmaster of East Stroudsburg.

Robert S. Allen Reports...

More Soviet Satellites

Washington, Oct. 8 — Russia intends to launch many more earth satellites, at the rate of one or more a month for at least a year.

It has around 150 of them all ready and waiting to do that.

This was disclosed by a Russian in a surprising conversation with an American at last week's meeting in Washington of International Geophysical Year scientists.

"We have the lead," asserted the Soviet scientist, "and we intend to keep it."

The grandiose satellite program claimed by the Russians is in striking contrast to that of the U.S.

American plans call for launching only six satellites during the IGY. For this purpose, 13 three-stage rockets are in various stages of construction. And about half of them will be used in preliminary trials.

Two of these tests are slated to take place in the next 30 days.

In the second, a prototype satellite will be hurled into space. It may orbit around the globe, but the chances are greatly against that.

Reason for this remote possibility is that the device is primarily a rocket and not a satellite; that is, it will consist chiefly of the mechanisms that propel a satellite into outer space.

These "launchers" constitute what is known as "Missile TV-5," and the prototype satellite that will be carried aloft is a 6-inch sphere weighing about 4 pounds.

It should soar up to 300 miles, and then disintegrate. Publishable details of this test, from a memorandum by the Office of Naval Research, which is directing it, are as follows:

"As objectives are reached in the step-by-step Vanguard program, fewer test instruments will be required in the satellite. This decrease in weight will permit an increase in the rocket's velocity in latter tests, but it is highly unlikely that an orbiting satellite will be achieved during the next two test phases of the project."

"Although the theoretical possibility of obtaining an orbit exists in the test portion of the project, it is only incidental to the objectives of these two test firings. Their primary purpose is to test the rocket and not to orbit a satellite. The latter goal is deemed certain, once the reliability of the rocket is established."

Note: Both tests will be at the Missile Test Center, Cape Canaveral, Fla. It is part of Patrick Airbase.

That's been decided at a White House conference.

Present were President Eisenhower, Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Gerald M. Morgan, special counsel to the President, and Arthur Larsen, director of USIS.

The agency's Voice of America broadcasts on the Arkansas school integration struggle were examined at this meeting. Larsen stated all these reports were based on news accounts from regular press services.

Senator Byrd criticized USIS handling of news about Little Rock, and wants an investigation.

The White House instructed Larsen to send all the broadcasts to the powerful Virginian, with a "strong supporting letter."

Copies of both will also be transmitted to the Foreign Relations Committee, which has jurisdiction over USIS, and the Armed Services Committee, of which Byrd is second-ranking member. Chairman of this influential committee is Senator Richard Russell (D. Ga.).

Byrd is chairman of the equally potent Finance Committee, which handles tax legislation. This group is conducting a sharply critical probe of Administration fiscal

More Footsying — Marshal Tito is planning more foreign traveling — this time to pro-Soviet Arab countries. The Yugoslav Communist ruler has accepted invitations for state visits in January to Egypt's dictator Nasser and the fellow-traveling clique in control in Syria. From the Middle East, Tito may hop to Indonesia, where "neutralist" President Sukarno is increasingly leaning towards the Communists. Pending this junket, a Yugoslav economic mission is going to Egypt "to establish closer ties."

That scathing resolution adopted by the UN against Russian brutalities and domination of Hungary has had no effect in the ill-fated satellite. Intelligence reports that Soviet control is tougher and tighter than ever before. More than 100,000 Red troops and 20,000 agents and other civilians are now in Hungary, "and have complete sway over the government, the economy, the police and what remains of the native military."

Adds the Intelligence report: "In every part of the country, the people are kept under strictest surveillance. Up to September 1, at least, 2,000 had been executed or sentenced to death, another 20,000 imprisoned, and 12,000 deported to Russia."

Good Evening Ladies!

Marriage's Compensation

By Ken Duval

As an ardent advocate and practitioner of romantic love, I am amazed at the number of ladies who write me that it is a vastly over-rated commodity. I gather that some of them want it abolished from our society and offer contractual marriage as a substitute. "Like everything else involving the emotions," one says, "love is an unstable and sometime thing."

Perhaps romantic love is, in many instances, ephemeral, but I would rather love and lose than never to love at all, as the poet said; anyway he said something resembling that. It is better, I think, to have loved and have it blow up in your face than to bring alliance to an end by sitting around a table and tearing up contracts like a couple of dress manufacturers who can't get along as partners.

There is nothing a wife can give a man that he can't buy on the open market, and much more economically, except love. Love is for sale on all sides, but it is shoddy, damaged goods. But there are a number of other reasons why a couple better be in love, at least when they marry. One is that marriage, a difficult and demanding institution at best, has love as practically its only compensation.

A great lawmaker once said, "By binding himself in matrimony, a man receives little or no benefits from the law. He incurs responsibilities so vast that no man could contemplate them without the rosy-tinted spectacles of love."

Escape Hatches Even though marriage today has many built-in escape hatches, it is doubtful that any young man in his right mind would consider it if he weren't in love. Try to discourage him and he takes the attitude of most motorists contemplating the fatality statistics—death on the highway is for the other fellow, not him. It's a good thing for the race that this is so.

I have not seen as many loveless marriages as my correspondents claim to have seen. Unlike them, those I have seen are pretty miserable affairs, of the "convenience" type and involve a great deal of money on both sides. As the papers said of the ceremonies, "thus two fine old aristocratic families are joined." What's the convenience, except for the executors of the joint estates?

In one case, the husband spends his winters in Florida waters and his summers hunting in the wilds of Canada. In another, the husband keeps his nose on the grindstone of his vast business interests and she traipses around the country carting her dogs in search of blue ribbons. In both cases, husband and wife see little of one another, which seem to consider just dandy. They can have it.

For the man without money, bound to a job that is aging him before his time and from which he can't escape, harassed by creditors, battling the grim spectre of the monthly mortgage payments and fathering more children than he can afford, Nature has provided a most effective tranquilizer—a woman's love, plus his own love for her.

And remembering that his wife hasn't had it easy, either, he can, when at long last they see their final child married, put his arm about her and say, "Well, old girl, that was a job well done."

Paraphrasing Artemus Ward, who said much the same thing about bachelors: Loving couples die in good style at home, surrounded by those who love them; loveless couples don't die, they just rot away like a pollywog's tail.

My New York

By Mel Heimer

New York — Miss Susan Harrison, 18, an actress, walked into my snake pit and I found myself thinking of what S w i f t y O'Brien, the B r o a d w o n v i v a n t and tout, had told me the day before.

"I see you wrote in the papers that young actresses are very tough people to interview because nothing has happened to them at such a tender age in life," Swiftly had said, looking up from his racing paper for a moment at 48th street and Seventh Avenue. "I think you are just too tough with these children. They look at your blue eyeglasses, a regular college professor yet, and they get gunshy and timid. They get things to say. Everybody has got things to say. You got to be patient."

Miss Harrison, in black skirt and sweater, no visible makeup and long, dark hair a little on the stringy side, came in and seated herself. I remembered her performance in "Sweet Smell of Success" and grinned.

"That was your first movie role," I said. She nodded.

"Yes."

"I hear you're in town to do the new Saroyan play, 'The Cave Dwellers.' I said. She said yes she was.

"Well, what kind of role do you play?"

"She's just called 'The Girl.' 'Is it a good part?'"

"Oh, yes."

"Well... ah... is The Girl a sad girl, or a wistful girl, like so many Saroyan heroines, or what?" I asked.

"She's—oh, just a girl."

"What's the play about?" I smiled. Patiently. "I know it's hard to say exactly what a Saroyan play is about."

"I couldn't even begin to explain it," she said.

I said I liked Saroyan's plays very much.

"You should like this," she said. We stared at each other amiably and simultaneously lit cigarettes. She smoked her brand and I smoked mine.

"I hear," I said, "that you used to live in the Bronx."

"Just for a little while. I went to high school there."

"And before you got into films, you modeled for a bit in the garment center?"

"Yes."

"How was it?"

"Awful. Boring."

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

Tensions in modern life always creep into a discussion of mental health, although as Robert Oliver pointed out in his talk at AAUW, too much tension is better than none at all. With that fact I am inclined to agree on a gray and rainy day when I am so un-tense I can't get moving at all.

However, Monday was tense enough for two days. Noise is one factor in increasing tension, and the wall of sirens from the fireman's parade that kept up a running accompaniment to the AAUW program didn't tend to make anybody relax.

Especially if all weekend they had been haunted by the "peep-peep" recordings of the Russian satellite from every television station.

Indecision also increased tension, and there was I trying to decide how to have my cake and eat it too, work and play, hear Mr. Oliver or the panel as the WSCS—and most especially to get acquainted with a whole crew of very interesting looking women who are new members of AAUW.

As it turned out, what I got were second hand reports from enthusiastic, and lucky, people who could stay in one place. Both sounded like highly interesting programs. It's always well to have current problems in the field of mental health, or community needs set out where you can get a good look at them.

But then comes the crucial time. If the enthusiasm generated by the program is immediately put to use—if a study group is organized, if teams of visitors are made up to go to the county home, if somebody starts a fund to pay for dental care, if—

If, in other words, the tension gets high enough to create action then you've really got something. Including me, back-peddaling like mad and thinking up reasons why I couldn't possibly do one more thing.

Fellowship Plans Nov. Western Show

Cherry Valley — A Western Show is scheduled by the Cherry Valley Methodist Youth Fellowship in November. Plans were made at the meeting held at the home of Bob Fields on September 24.

Joan Armitage suggested a study of the symbols on the church windows for the group. Mrs. Andrew Kaiser will help in the study which will start in November. Plans were also made for the quarterly conference.

Portland — The Friendship Circle of the Portland Presbyterian Church met on Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Albert Newton. It was voted to hold a bake sale on Friday, Oct. 1 at 3 p. m. at Johnnie's store on Delaware Ave.

The Circle donated $150 to the building fund of the church and also voted to assume one half of the Missionary expenses of the church.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Mason Reimer, Mrs. Otto Hoechlin Jr., Mrs. Lloyd Newbaker Jr., Mrs. Olin Cramer and the hostess, Mrs. Newton.

The Circle will meet next on Tuesday night, November 5 at the home of Mrs. Olin Cramer on Delaware Ave.

Girl Scouts Reorganize At Newfoundland

Newfoundland — Scouting, its aims and its pleasures, was the topic at a reorganization meeting of Laurel Intermediate Girl Scout Troop held at the new legion home with Mrs. Alberta Marsh presiding.

Mothers and scouts or prospective scouts have been invited to attend the special meeting when groundwork for the reorganization of the troop was laid.

Mrs. Marsh announced that a senior troop is being formed and that a Brownie troop has been organized by Mrs. Ethel Wohlfart, with meetings held each Monday afternoon from 4 to 5 p. m. Wardell Robacker serves as assistant to Mrs. Wohlfart.

Mrs. Margaret Beehn was named cookie chairman again this year, and Mrs. Eugenia Robacker will serve as candy chairman. In charge of the Intermediate group will be Mrs. Marsh, Mrs. Robacker, Mrs. Mildred Lanuti and Mrs. Pauline Gilpin.

Mrs. Robacker reported on a training course she and Mrs. Marsh took last weekend.

Plans will be made next week for the special event which will honor the winners of a contest in which the troop collected coupons for the benefit of the auxiliary of Phillips-Zacharias-Phillips Post 859, American Legion. Also planned for next week is election of patrol leaders, a troop scribe and a troop treasurer.

Attending the meeting were these mothers: Faye Butler, Thelma Peet, Doris Bartleson, Alberta Rochfort, Alberta Marsh, Mae Gilpin, Ethel Wohlfart, Margaret Beehn, Pauline Gilpin, Aileen Robbins, Mildred Lanuti, Alvesta Holdren, Martha Smith, Eugenia Robacker and Peggy Bancroft.

Need For Mental Health Study Stressed At AAUW; Welcome 19 New Members

The possibility of establishing a study group for people interested in thinking through some of the problems of Mental Health was one practical suggestion which emerged from the discussion which followed a talk by Robert C. Oliver, Central Area Director of the Pennsylvania Mental Health, Inc.

Oliver was the speaker at the opening meeting of the local branch of the American Assn. of University Women on Monday night at the Stroud Community House. He was introduced by Miss Eloise Bryan who with Mrs. Elmer Veety is chairman of the social studies committee of AAUW.

An animated cartoon film on the tensions arising in a day in the life of a man formed the basis of the discussion. Hostility toward his boss, his wife and his family stemmed from his own personal maladjustment in running away from rather than facing everyday realities.

The need for admitting in time that emotional problems are getting out of hand and seeking help without apology or mortification came out in the discussion. Agencies and persons within the county qualified to give help were mentioned and the need for further community service was explored.

Oliver, who served as counselor during the organization of the local Mental Health Assn., stressed the importance of evaluating local needs and the need for public education. He suggested a pamphlet, "How to Deal With Your Tensions" as a basis for further discussion.

Honor New Members

The program followed a dessert meeting in honor of new members of the club arranged by Mrs. Harold James, hospital-ity chairman. Nineteen new members were introduced by Mrs. W. H. Caulfield, membership chairman. They represented as many different colleges.

New members and their colleges include Mrs. Alvin C. Berger, Lebanon Valley; Miss Joan

Four WSCS Members Given Shower

Bartonsville — The first meeting for the season for the Women's Society of Christian Service of Wesley Chapel was held in the church social rooms on Thursday night, Sept. 26, with the new president, Mrs. Theil Feller, in charge.

"March of Missions" was announced as the devotional theme for the year. Mrs. Feller led the study for the month "Mission Cinema", a geographical march of missions.

Plans were made to entertain the Philadelphia North District Officer's Caravan at a luncheon at the church social hall at noon, on Oct. 10.

Announcement was made that Homecoming Day would be held at Wesley Chapel on Oct. 13. Guest speaker at the 10:45 a. m. service will be Robert Bullock, Monroe County Youth for Christ leader. A guest soloist will also be featured. A luncheon will be served at noon by two members of the WSCS. Another worship service, with a guest minister officiating, will be held at 7:30 p. m. Guest vocalists will be the Reeders Quartet.

Sale of Christmas cards was discussed and they are now available from any member of the organization.

At the close of the business session four members of the society were honored at a surprise toast shower. Two of the guests of honor, Mrs. Elwood Arndt and Mrs. Harry Armitage, attended the meeting but Mrs. Raymond Roberts was in the Monroe County General Hospital with her son who had been born on Sept. 25. Mrs. Harold Frailey, the other guest of honor, was unable to be present. Each of the honored guests was presented with a white baby bunting from the members of the organization and a bootie cake made and decorated by Mrs. Clyde White.

Refreshments featuring cup cakes with miniature doll babies on top, ice cream and beverages were served. Decorations were in pink and blue with the "Bootie Cakes" as centerpiece. Those present were Mrs. Wilson Lee, Mrs. Theil Feller, Mrs. Millard Rice, Mrs. James Owens, Mrs. Harry Armitage, Mrs. Fred Frailey, Mrs. Elwood Arndt, Mrs. Charles Yoch, Mrs. Louis Landmesser, Mrs. James N. Canfield, Jr., Mrs. Steward Walters and Mrs. Clyde White.

Local Students At Lycoming

Two local students are enrolled for the Fall semester at Lycoming College, Williamsport: Dale J. Bell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bell, Stroudsburg, RD 2, and Shirley J. Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Adams, Main St., Stroudsburg.

FOUR ANSWERS to the questions on what the community needs, asked by Mrs. Roger Stimson, center, were given by the four members of the panel at the WSCS meeting this week: left to right, Mrs. Donald Gilpin, child health; Mrs. Frederick Jones, Grand Jury findings; Mrs. Harold Pond, Citizens Assn.; Mrs. Carroll All, home for the aged. ## Community Needs Studied By Local Methodist Women

The need for company and something to occupy the time of residents at the County Home; the need for dental care for children of Monroe County; the need for adequate housing for the aged of the community, and vigilance in determining whether those people who need help are getting it.

Those were the four major points brought out in the panel which discussed "Our Community Needs" at the meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Stroudsburg Methodist Church on Monday night.

Mrs. Roger Stimson had arranged for the panel. It included four women active in various fields of public welfare: Mrs. Harold Pond, a member of the Monroe County committee of the Pennsylvania Citizens Assn. and chairman of Mental Health of the Monroe Co. Medical Aux.; Mrs. Jones was foreman of the recent grand jury in the county, and is chairman of Child Health of the Medical Aux.; Mrs. Donald Gilpin is president of the Monroe Co. Crippled Children's Assn., and executive secretary of the Emergency Child Health Committee; Mrs. Carroll All is a staff member of the local Public Assistance office and a member of the committee for the Monroe County Home for the Aged.

Pond explained how the Pennsylvania Citizens Assn. is trying to determine the answer to the question: "Do People Who Need Help Get It?" They are concentrating on three fields of study: Public welfare, child welfare, and penal affairs.

Mrs. Jones discussed the findings of the recent grand jury in the course of their duty to inspect public property. At the county home, they found a great need for company and for something to do among the inmates. The courthouse and the jail, particularly the jail, are in need of repairs.

In speaking for child welfare and health, Mrs. Gilpin said that one of the major needs of the children at the present time.

The need of the aged for adequate housing and particularly the need for a Home for the Aged in the county were discussed by Mrs. All.

Questions from the audience followed the panel presentation.

The opening devotions on "My Life as a Mark of Missions" were led by Mrs. Harold Stiff with Mrs. Merlin Rutt playing the part of a returned missionary from Mexico.

Following the program, refreshments were served by Mrs. Ronald Dunkelberger, Mrs. Dorothy Staples, Mrs. Russell Low, Mrs. Horace Heller, Mrs. Gilbert Campbell, Mrs. Robert Rasely, Mrs. George Taylor and Mrs. C. B. Altmore.

Leisure Hour Club Today

The Leisure Hour Club will meet Wednesday at 2 at the YMCA. Judge Fred W. Davis will be the guest speaker at the meeting. Refreshments will be served.

At their last meeting, the group found that the piano had been moved into their meeting rooms and promptly made use of it to reveal unexpected talents among their members.

Vice president Mrs. Effie Heller was in charge of the impromptu program which featured piano solo by Mrs. Bender; a reading by Mrs. Esther Lake, and a song, sung in German, "Lorelei" by Mrs. Alwin Doering and Mrs. Charlotte Mathelson. As other members joined in the singing, it was discovered that many of them had once studied German.

Following the meeting, refreshments were shared by members of the MORA Club.

Visit Havana

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace S. Hutcheon of Mount Bethel recently traveled from Stock Island, Key West to Havana Cuba by the SS City of Havana and returned to drive over the scenic Overseas Highway to the Florida mainland.

Bushkill Club At Kutay's For Fall Opener

Bushkill—The Bushkill Garden Club held their September meeting at "Riverside" the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kutay. Mrs. Robert Irwin, vice president, presided.

Some of the members reported that they had attended the meeting of the Milford Garden Club during August. A membership money-raising project was introduced.

Mrs. John C. Clapp displayed a blooming Colchicum. This plant is unusual in the fact that it grows and blooms entirely without earth or water.

Mrs. Irwin, in conjunction with the club's lesson program for the year, presented a talk on flower containers.

Miss Hilda Haskill, home economist for Pike County, announced that all persons interested in the work of making silt covers would meet at the fire house on Monday afternoon, October 7 at 2:00 p. m., to discuss the possibility of starting a class.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Kutay and Mrs. Chester Brish. Very appropriate to the Fall season were plates of fruit from the Kutay Orchards.

The next meeting will be on October 10 at 2 p. m., at the home of Mrs. J. Russell Eshback with Mrs. Eshback and Mrs. Jackson McCann as hostesses.

The opening devotions on "My Life as a Mark of Missions" were led by Mrs. Harold Stiff with Mrs. Merlin Rutt playing the part of a returned missionary from Mexico.

Following the program, refreshments were served by Mrs. Ronald Dunkelberger, Mrs. Dorothy Staples, Mrs. Russell Low, Mrs. Horace Heller, Mrs. Gilbert Campbell, Mrs. Robert Rasely, Mrs. George Taylor and Mrs. C. B. Altmore.

THE WYCKOFF SHOPPER

"The Friendly Store"

A.B. Wyckoff

STROUDSBURG, PA.

One thing can be said about Wyckoff's: when anything of major importance happens to any employee or his family, the entire store gets into the act. Never, but never, was this more obvious than in the marriage of Harold Albert's daughter, Audrey, to Ted Mitchell, this Sunday.

I knew, of course, that Tage Helgren of our Hoover department, was to be catered. Tage was trained as pastry maker and chef in his native Sweden, and the openface sandwiches, cakes, and such that he can produce are like something out of a home making journal. But I certainly hadn't counted on Blanche Mackey and Jean Decker being right in there with the parsley, cucumber, and carrot slices . . . or to be manipulating pink and green mayonnaise into tiny rosebuds myself.

I'm not quite sure how it happened . . . but there I was, doing something I'd never done before, or even tried to do, and having a marvelous time. The plan had been that Betty Colvin (of our corset department) and I, would doll up in our best, and be on hand to pour punch, or coffee, and see that everyone had his share of refreshments. But when we arrived a half hour prior to the ceremony, we were confronted with trays, trays, and MORE TRAYS of open face sandwiches, many of them still begging for bits of lettuce, parsley, and coloring.

I had a field day. Too much of a field day, as a matter of fact. I'm almost afraid to get on the scales. After all, I don't like to see things waste . . . so whenever a sandwich just happened to break apart as I moved it over so delicately from the dampened plate covering to the serving tray, I HAD to eat it, didn't I?

I guess I'd been working at least ten minutes, before I realized that the pleasant young man working right next to me was not just a rather familiar-looking local boy. He was Joe Abell, the youthful Hoover supervisor, who drops by our office very now and then to arrange advertising. "For heaven's sake," I exclaimed, "how did YOU get in on this?" He grinned. "I stopped by Tage's home to talk business with him today and he put me to work." Joe admitted, as he formed green mayonnaise leaves against rosebud anchovies on a sandwich.

"Today I'm the boss," Tage beamed, unperturbed despite the relentless racing of the clock. "Tomorrow he's the boss again."

Eventually the wedding party descended from the church . . . the bride looking like a dream walking in her sequined white gown with its pretty bustle, and the bridesmaids looking very young and heartbreakingly lovely in their two tones of blue. "The women are going mad for me," my old colleague Albert announced brazenly as he passed the kitchen door. "Wishful thinking, Harold," I parried, "but you make a perfectly devastating father of the bride."

Everywhere were orchids . . . white orchids, purple orchids, lavender orchids, orchid orchids . . . and WYCKOFF friends, Bea Gorgy . . . Marion Leedom . . . Laura Fabel . . . the girls from the Tea Room. Outside it rained . . . and cleared . . . with monotonous regularity. There were endless telephone calls . . . punch glasses to fill . . . trays of sandwiches . . . and flash bulbs popping. Then it was over!

OVER? Not really . . . just the beginning, with happiness ahead, for many years, we trust.

Quartet To Lead Chest Campaign

WHEN THE Community Chest's all-important "house to house" cleanup drive begins next week, as usual it's the women who'll do the work. In charge of the overall county section of the Chest residential drive will be Mrs. William Hannas of East Stroudsburg.

For Stroudsburg borough the division heads will be Mrs. M. S. Baldwin and Mrs. Grant Nittrouer. Mrs. James A. Gillilan will take charge of the East Stroudsburg borough drive.

According to Ethel D. West, Chest executive secretary, no division head has been named as yet for the West End area of the county.

The residential section of the annual Chest campaign will begin following the Gerald P. O'Neill Memorial Dinner given by the Penn-Stroud Hotel as the "kickoff" dinner for the Chest campaign.

That dinner will be held Monday, Oct. 14 at the hotel ballroom beginning at 6:30 p.m. Invitations to the dinner have been mailed out this week.

'Feast Of Ingathering' To Be Celebrated By Jews

THE JEWISH festival of Succos or "Feast of Ingathering" begins at sunset today. Services will be held at Temple Israel today and tomorrow beginning at 6:15 p.m.

Morning services will be held at 7:15 a.m. on Thursday and Friday. Rabbi Joshua Soddien will conduct all services, assisted by members of the congregation.

A Kiddush, or reception, will be held outside the temple following the services.

Meaning

The Hebrew word Succos means booths and the holiday also commemorates the Divine Providence which sheltered the ancient Israelites as they wandered in the desert from the land of bondage to the land of promise.

The booths represent the tents in which the Israelites dwelled in the wilderness. The second historical association of the festival is that it was and is today the harvest festival in the land of Israel.

As a feast of gratitude, it is said to be the model after which the pilgrims created the American Thanksgiving Day.

Money

It also was disclosed that the executive board of the association has set aside $7,500 for a sick and accident insurance program. This action also received the unanimous endorsement of the assembly.

President Mariano Saveri directed the session. Refreshments were served at the conclusion.

Boy Still Searching For New Jacket

THERE'S A NEW candidate for the meanest thief of the year.

It's the individual who took a boy's new jacket—worth $26—from the cloakroom at the YMCA 10 days ago while the 15-year-old owner was attending a dance elsewhere in the building.

The lad who lost it had worn the jacket only once before. He is a newspaper carrier boy who had been saving his spare cash for some time in order to buy the much-needed jacket.

Daily Record

The boy turned to The Daily Record for help in finding the red and black reversible jacket, size 18-20. Immediately a classified advertisement was placed in the columns of this paper. It has run every day since.

Unfortunately for the boy, there has been no response to the ad or to efforts of Y officials to recover the missing jacket.

Anyone who has information regarding the jacket is asked to contact the classified advertising department of The Daily Record or the YMCA.

94 Visitors Take Part In Communion

MOUNTAINHOME — In the observance of World Wide Communion Sunday, at the Mountainhome Methodist Church, a unique feature was introduced by the pastor, Rev. Harold N. MacMurray.

Each visitor was given a card to fill out with the record of his home church, and the name and address of the minister of that church. These cards certified that the person who had filled it out had partaken of the Communion at the Mountainhome Church, and after the service they were mailed to the respective pastors of the visitors.

A total of 94 visitors registered, coming from eight different states, and representing membership in the churches of 11 different denominations.

Meditation

Rev. MacMurray's meditation for the Communion was "Our Fellowship," emphasizing the fellowship of believers around the world, of various races, nations and creeds, with the fellowship of God, the Father, and Jesus Christ, His Son, being the great uniting force of the Christian faith.

The Choir, under the direction of Mrs. John R. Nauman, and with Mrs. Warren E. Miller at the organ, sang Lorenz' arrangement of Fanny Crosby's well-loved hymn "Near the Cross."

Flowers were placed in the chancel in memory of Joe W. Swaine. The ushers for the Communion service were Alfred J. Mutchler, Jr., Arch B. Shaller and Leo T. Ehrgood, Sr.

Warren E. Miller, who holds lay reader's orders, assisted Rev. MacMurray in the administration of Communion.

Bible Class To Meet

THE MOODY Bible Class of the Bible Fellowship Church will hold its first meeting of the Fall season at the home of Rev. P. H. Loftus at 7:30 p.m. today. Officers of the group are Mrs. Evelyn Shiffer, president; Mrs. Eva Wetzel, vice president; Mrs. Eleanor Ley, secretary, and Fred Ley, treasurer.

Study topic for the initial meeting will be "Signs of the Times." The public is invited to attend.

Plans Set For Harvest Home Festival

MOUNT POCONO — The Woman's Society of Christian Service has appointed Mrs. Nellie Sharbaugh and Miss Winifred Hay to make arrangements for a display of the gifts of canned goods, fruits and vegetables for the Harvest Home Festival to be observed on Sunday in the Mount Pocono Methodist Church.

These gifts will be dedicated for use at the Methodist Home for the Aged in Philadelphia by Rev. James F. Mort, pastor at the 11 a. m. Worship Service when he preaches the message: "That Nothing Be Wasted."

The church will be open to receive contributions, and it will be appreciated by the WSCS if all contributions are brought to the church sanctuary. Anyone the display may be arranged in the church sanctuary. Anyone not able to bring contributions, please telephone Mount Pocono 2-8802 any morning between 9 and noon, and someone will call for your articles.

East Stroudsburg Inventor Hopeful Of Having 'Balancer' Manufactured Soon

BELMONT BELL, 89 Analomink St., East Stroudsburg, yesterday revealed that progress has been made toward the manufacture of his recently patented wheel balancing invention.

The invention consists of a ring inside the hub cap of a car. A special liquid is inside the ring and keeps the wheel of the car in perfect balance. The balancing takes place while the car is in motion.

Bell, who has several other patents pending, calls his wheel balancing technique, "Fluid Balancing."

Hopeful

Bell is hopeful that his invention may be first manufactured in Stroudsburg or East Stroudsburg.

If current plans work out, Bell indicated that a portion of the automobile manufacturing industry may be brought to this area.

At the present time there are five known large plants making wheel balancing machinery, Bell revealed. But, none are making the automatic gyro type.

Bell is hopeful that his invention will be manufactured within a few months, although no plans are definite at this time.

They were going to build the biggest sand castles ever! With towers... and tunnels... and arches...

But now she's just a statistic... her dream and her life ended by death on the highway!

No one wanted to kill her. But someone did! Just as surely as someone killed the 40,000 men, women and children who died on our roads last year.

That someone could be anyone... it could even be you. So when you drive this summer, take extra care. No one wants to be a killer... or a corpse.

Here's how you can help stop traffic tragedies:

- 1 Drive safely and courteously yourself. Observe speed limits and warning signs. Where traffic laws are obeyed, deaths go DOWN!
- 2 Insist on strict enforcement of all traffic laws. Traffic regulations work for you, not against you. Where traffic laws are strictly enforced, deaths go DOWN!

Towels Big Item In Modern Home

WITH TOWELS so expensive these days, it's more important than ever to keep in mind basic facts concerning weaving and lasting qualities of bath and kitchen linens:

1. Pick sturdy stuff, not decorative, elaborate towels for the children. For the men in the family, too, pick towels tough enough to withstand the rough pulling back and forth of the after-shower rub-down. Loosely twisted yarn must be combined with close weave for greatest durability.
2. Loosely constructed weaves are most absorbent.
3. For greatest laundry efficiency, use correct towel sizes. Guest or hand towels run 14x24 in. to 16x24 in. in size. Face towels may be 18x32 in.; 20x36 in.; 22x36 in. Bath towels 17x34 in. to 27x59 in.
4. In kitchen towels, linen gives off less lint than cotton. Also, linen is quickest drying.

Comb Out Paint

IF YOU have trouble removing the paint from the base of the bristles on a paint brush, try using an old fork or, even better, a metal comb.

Determine Tiles Needed For Room

HERE'S AN easy way to determine how many tiles are needed for a given size room when installing asphalt tile or rubber tile floor.

Get the square footage of the room by measuring length and width. Then double the square footage and subtract 10 per cent. That gives the number of tiles needed.

Basis

This is based on the fact that a standard 9 x 9 inch tile is 9/16 of a square foot. Thus if the room is 9 x 12 feet, it has 108 square feet. Twice 108 equals 216. Take 10 per cent of 216. That gives 21.6, or in round numbers, 22. Subtract 22 from 216, leaving 194. This is the approximate number of tiles needed for a 9x12 foot room.

Medicine Chest

ENAMEL will rejuvenate the medicine chest if it has become soiled and spotted. An attractive effect is often obtained by finishing the interior of the cabinet.

Special Putty Needed

A SPECIAL putty is needed for setting glass in aluminum windows. Ordinary wood putty is not so good for this purpose.

Dull Finish Result Of Hard Work

A DULL or satin finish on varnish or enamel is obtained by removing the natural gloss with pumice stone and water or oil after the last coat has become dry and hard.

To permit this, three to eight days should be allowed to elapse. Rubbing is done with a thick felt, dipped in water or oil, then in finely ground pumice stone.

When oil is used, it may be a light grade of motor oil, raw linseed oil and benzine, or paraffin oil. Rub lightly over the surface, being especially careful on the edges and corners not to rub through.

Moulding

Mouldings and carved surfaces may be rubbed with a short stiff brush instead of the rubbing felt.

Wash off the pumice with clear water and wipe dry with a clean cloth. Corners and angles must be cleaned out with an orange stick or something similar.

Laundry In Garage

IN MORE than 13 per cent of the houses now being built for sale, the laundry is located in the garage.

THE FLU epidemic or whatever the medics are calling the latest sickness outbreak, is playing havoc with the local football schedule.

East Stroudsburg, already hit by one postponement—Bangor—was tapped with another yesterday when Lehigh requested a postponement of Friday's encounter.

Stroudsburg High got into the act, or we should say, Pen Argyl's act, when its slated dual with the already once-idled Green Wave was pushed back to a later date.

It certainly is too bad that the virus attack has to hit the student bodies in such vast numbers. From the present wave that has been going around Lehigh Valley schools, Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg are next to be hit.

Thus, if we do a little crystal-gazing, the football Mountaineers and Cavaliers may become victims of the latest cold-flu outbreak real soon.

East Stroudsburg has not seen action for two weeks, and if the current sickness trend actually becomes true in our vicinity, there is a possibility Jack Kiet's boys will be without competitive opposition for three weeks.

Stroudsburg faces the same illness problem. If the "flu" attack strikes the area this week, the Mountaineers of John Whitehead will be out of action for at least two weeks.

It is troublesome enough for a coach to keep his squad up for a game week after week, let alone face an uncertain or jammed up schedule in a week. The boys—players—lose their interest when practices and daily routine drills are disrupted.

There is no doubt that both the Cavaliers and Mountaineer coaches will feel the latest obstacle in force when they try and get their boys back on a normal schedule. It's not an easy task.

Former Bangor High star back, Rod Miller, is co-captain of the Moravian College eleven, the Greyhounds' most valuable player last season, is a fullback for Rocco Calvo's forces.

Anyone in the area wishing a career in the umpiring field may get the full treatment at Al Somers' School at Daytona Beach, Fla., Jan. 18 to Feb. 18.

Somers' umpiring institution is a byword in the official ranks. Last year, Al placed 50 men in minor league ball, and the personally trained 85 per cent of all minor league umpires and ten arbiters who have reached the majors.

The Associated Press rates West Chester STC as the top small college eleven in the state of Pennsylvania. Glen Killinger's Rams have swept by three foes in early starts.

West Chester is fielding an all-veteran team this year, and the AP figures it should get by all opponents during the campaign.

Seen Contenders In Hockey Race

By The Associated Press

THE two teams which failed to make the American Hockey League playoffs last spring, Buffalo and Springfield, are expected to get right into the scrap for play off places when the 1957-58 AHL season opens tonight.

The Buffalo Bisons will present an almost new team, from player-coach Harry Watson on down, in their opening at home against Rochester.

The Springfield Indians have entered into a working agreement with the Boston Bruins of the National League and received a number of players Boston farmed out to Hershey last season.

Opening night games are Rochester at Buffalo, Providence at Springfield and Hershey at Cleveland.

Forsakes Show For 'Favorites'

SUMMIT, N. J., Oct. 8 (AP)—Mrs. Naomi Gage, an ardent New York Yankee baseball fan, plans to make a supreme sacrifice to watch her team on TV tomorrow in the World Series.

For one year Mrs. Gage has treasured a ticket to tomorrow's game of the Yankees against the Milwaukee Braves in the World Series about the same time the curtain rose on the musical. So she is giving up the ticket in preference to a chair in front of her TV set.

S-burg, Eastburg Grid Tilts Postponed

Schools May Get In Games Monday Night

STROUDSBURG and East Stroudsburg High officials announced last night that the Mountaineers scheduled game with Pen Argyl this Friday night, and the Cavaliers slated tilt with Lehigh have been postponed.

Stroudsburg educators acted when a request from Pen Argyl principal Allen Jackson came seeking the postponement, after a survey showed the Green Wave eleven still undermanned since the recent outbreak of the flu attack.

Stroudsburg and Pen Argyl officials will get together Thursday and attempt to set up a new date for its game. Mountaineers sides indicated that the makeup may take place Monday night at Gordon Gliffis.

Eastburg officials will dicker with Lehigh on a possible Monday date for the replay of the contest. If Monday is not suitable to Lehigh, then the Cavaliers may play the Indians Tuesday or Wednesday.

All four schools will go out in their bid to get the games run off sometime early next week.

Bangor Makeup

East Stroudsburg also will meet with Bangor high school aides and set up a new date for its already once-postponed game with the Maroon.

It is probable that the Cavalier-Slater contest will be played later in the season. It is scheduled for Eastburg's Memorial Stadium.

East Stroudsburg's squad was hit with the virus yesterday when quarterback Chester Lupin and center Tom Long—both regulars—failed to report for practice because of illness.

Stroudsburg's eleven is in good shape, according to Whitehead. Only halfback Doug Wright is on the injury list with a pulled ligament. However, the Mountaineers' freshman back has been going through daily workouts and is expected to be ready by the next game.

Towel Tops Carter In 10

LONDON, Oct. 8 (AP)—Willie Towel, South African holder of the British Empire lightweight title, tonight outpointed American Jimmy Carter, a former world champion, in a non-title 10-rounder at London's Royal Albert Hall.

Towel's victory put him in line for a crack at the world title held by American Joe Brown.

Towel, 23, the world's fifth ranking lightweight, said he was told by London promoter Harry Levine before the fight:

"Beat Carter convincingly and I will get Joe Brown over here to defend his title against you."

The South African opened a cut over Carter's left eyebrow in the first round and from then on was on top. There were no knockdowns.

The Associated Press gave seven rounds to Towel, one to Carter with the other two drawn.

Army Tops Lambert Poll

NEW YORK, Oct. 7 (AP)—Army's unbeaten Cadets today topped the list in the first weekly poll for the Lambert Trophy, emblematic of the Eastern major college football championship.

Conquerors of Nebraska and Penn State, the Cadets received 88 points out of a possible 10 from a panel of coaches, sports writers and sportscasters.

Way Moon Bounces

NEW YORK, Oct. 9 (AP)—The Russian satellite—around and around she goes and where she stops, nobody knows.

The same is true of football pickos which last week showed an atrocious score of 30-13. But that's the way the moon bounces.

Today's "beep beeps" from outer space:

Army 7 Notre Dame 6: Two great running attacks collide here but defenses prevail in a bitter game.

Michigan 20 Michigan State 14: The Spartans have the depth but the desire advantage to the Wolverines on their home field.

Arkansas 13 Baylor 12: The Bears from Waco, Tex., don't react from last week's loss to Miami.

Rice 14 Duke 7: The Blue Devils

Army, Irish Spokesmen 'Interpret'

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8 (AP)—Army and Notre Dame spokesmen said today that the Cadets and Fighting Irish have their "most representative" football teams in years but they offered different interpretations.

Capt. Gil Stephenson, Army scout and coach of the Academy plebe team, and Charley Callahan, sports director of sports publicity at Notre Dame, broke bread with the Philadelphia Football Writers Club, later previewing Saturday's Army-Notre Dame game at Municipal Stadium here.

Capt. Stephenson said Army, under Coach Earl "Red" Blaik, "even with certain weaknesses, probably has its most representative team since 1950." Pressed to elaborate on his remarks, Stephenson said:

"The coaching staff at the academy approached this season with the most hope for success in seven years." The 1950 team won eight and lost one to Navy.

Callahan, who followed Stephenson as a speaker, said Notre Dame's 1957 team also was its most representative team in years.

"We have boys from Pennsylvania, California, Louisiana, New York, Ohio, Nebraska, New England, etc., said the Irish drum beater.

Dodgers To Move To Los Angeles

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK, Oct. 8 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers finally made their long-awaited move today. They definitely are going to Los Angeles in 1958.

The official announcement, made at a press conference by public relations director Arthur "Red" Patterson, was so anti-climatic that Walter O'Malley, the club president, didn't bother to attend. He was attending a stockholders meeting in Brooklyn.

Patterson's announcement said simply that in view of the action of the Los Angeles City Council yesterday, the Dodgers stockholders had unanimously agreed to take the necessary steps toward drafting the Los Angeles territory from the Pacific Coast League.

The City Council endorsed, by a 10-4 vote, the proposed contract between the city and the National League club which would give O'Malley the 300-acre Chavez Ravine site for a ball park in exchange for Brooklyn-owned Wrigley Field in Los Angeles.

California is assured of two National League teams for next year and New York will have none. The New York Giants committed themselves last Aug. 19 to move to San Francisco next season.

Mixed Reactions

The Dodgers announcement was greeted with mixed reactions. In Los Angeles, Mayor Norris Poulson hailed the coming of the Dodgers and Giants as a tremendous boost to California's economy and its position in the sports world.

"The Dodgers have played their last game in Brooklyn," he proclaimed. "We have taken out of the biggest city in the nation two of its most coveted institutions."

"I have every reason to believe that the Los Angeles Dodgers—Or Angels—will get new attendance records, once we get the new baseball stadium that Mr. O'Malley plans to build here. With support that the team is certain to get, it ought to be a cinch to grab the National League pennant next year."

The team will still be called the Dodgers, Patterson said.

The team is certain to receive an enthusiastic welcome in Los Angeles. Minutes after the official announcement, Los Angeles newspaper headlines cried "We Get The Bums," and "Los Angeles is Big League."

Different in Gotham

The reaction in New York was different. Although the shift was expected, die-hard Dodgers fans just could not make themselves believe that they no longer had "The Bums."

"Who are we going to boo now," one of them said. "Not them Yankees. They don't deserve even that."

New York City Mayor Wagner vowed to get to work immediately toward getting another National League club for New York.

"Naturally," he said, "I regret that they are leaving. Walter thanked me for all I did to try to help. In view of his statement, I will appoint a group of citizens within the next few days to help us get another National League club."

"Naturally, they have got to have a place to play."

Majors' Map Revamped For 5th Time

NEW YORK, Oct. 8 (AP)—The major leagues' baseball map has been altered more in the last five years than in the previous half century.

The transfer of the Dodgers from Brooklyn to Los Angeles marks the fifth franchise shift since 1953. Los Angeles, San Francisco and Kansas City are new to major league baseball. Baltimore and Milwaukee formerly held American League franchises.

Here's how the baseball map has been changed:

March 18, 1953—National League, in an unprecedented move, approved shift of Boston Braves' franchise to Milwaukee.

Sept. 29, 1953—American League approved sale and transfer of St. Louis Browns to Baltimore.

A's Switch

Nov. 8, 1954—American League approved sale and transfer of Philadelphia Athletics to Kansas City.

Aug. 19, 1957—New York Giants announced transfer of club to San Francisco after receiving approval from National League on May 28, 1957.

Oct. 8—Brooklyn Dodgers announced transfer to Los Angeles following National League's May 28 approval.

Miteff 4-1 Over DeJohn In TV Bout

SYRACUSE, N.Y., Oct. 8 (AP)—An unranked local boy and a highly regarded South American heavyweight met tomorrow night in a 10-round, nationally televised boxing bout.

The local puncher is Mike DeJohn, "baby" brother in a family of fighting Syracuseans. His opponent is Alex Miteff, 22, undefeated Argentinean slugger, who is ranked seventh among the contenders for Floyd Patterson's crown.

Pricemakers have installed the 200-pound visitor a 4-1 favorite to add DeJohn to his string of 12 victories.

The fight offers DeJohn, 26, a stepping stone to bigger things. Until last February the 6-2 fighter has been a preliminary and semi-main event. Mike fought to a draw with Neil Welsh in Miami Beach.

Seek Patterson

Miteff's manager, Hymie Wallman, said he would seek a title shot at Patterson if his boy scores an impressive victory in tomorrow's match.

Included in the former Pan American Games champion's undefeated skin are seven knockouts, including a ninth round kayo of Johnny Holman last month in Denver.

DeJohn, who follows Ralph, Joey and Carmen in the business, has posted 33 victories, three losses and one draw. He has scored 24 knockouts.

Johnny DeJohn, co-manager of middleweight champion Carmen Basilio, manages the youngest DeJohn.

The fight will be telecast nationally over ABC TV at 9 p.m., EST.

STC Teams Play Today; Booters Home

TWO East Stroudsburg State Teachers College athletic teams will see action today—one home and the other in foreign territory.

The soccer squad of John Eiler will go after its first win of the season, hosting Brockport Col. lege on the Normal Hill field, starting at 3 p.m.

Miss Katherine Griffith's girls hockey team will travel to Elizabethtown for an intercollegiate tussle with the downstate lassies.

Eiler's booters are 0-2 on the season having been blanked 2-0 by Ithaca and 4-0 by West Chester.

The Warrior mentor has been rebuilding this season after graduation and other problems stripped him of valuable material from last year's 7-1 record team.

Brockport is rated one of the top soccer schools around, and at one time, a few years ago, held a high national ranking.

Unbeaten

Griffith's Warriorettes, bested an Alumnae team in its first outing last week, and will bring into the Elizabethtown contest an unbeaten mark accumulated since '56. However, the "Hill" girls have been tied twice over the span.

East Stroudsburg will field a girls lineup composed of Carolyn Emery, Mrs. Nancy Andrews, Joan Chamberlain, Helen Abrams, Noretta Schaeffer, Gail Crouthamel, Sally Hoover, Lorraine Boyd, Carol Sue Underwood, and Betty Zerbe.

Jones' Shoe Attraction

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Oct. 7 (AP)—There's a move on here to enshrine the baseball shoe worn by Nippy Jones when he started the winning 10th inning rally for the Milwaukee Braves in Sunday's World Series game.

A popular hero, Jones was sent this telegram by Sacramento Union sports editor Bill Conlin:

"On behalf of Sacramento's baseball hall of fame, I request you donate the shoe which won the fourth game of the World Series. We are prepared to hang it at 10th and K Sts until a more suitable shrine becomes available. Please don't remove the white streaking off the baseball . . ."

Jones drew a base in the fateful 10th when Yankee pitcher Tommy Byrne nicked him in the shoe.

Nippy played with the Pacific Coast League Sacramento Solons until mid-season when the Braves brought him up to help their pennant drive.

Cards Retain Three Coaches

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 8 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals announced today they are keeping intact the coaching staff of Stan Hack, Al Hollingsworth and Terry Moore that helped guide the club to a second place finish this year. Manager Fred Hutchinson had been signed earlier.

Buhl Will Try For Clincher

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Oct. 8 (AP)—Mickey Mantle and Red Schoendienst probably will be out of action tomorrow when the World Series resumes at Yankee Stadium. Milwaukee's Bob Buhl will try for the clincher against the New York Yankees' Bob Turley. The Braves hold a 3-2 edge.

Mantle, crippled Yankee center fielder who hurt his shoulder in Saturday's game, appeared at the stadium for diathermy treatment after X-rays proved negative. It was reported he couldn't raise his right arm. Barring an unexpected change, he won't be able to swing a bat or make a throw.

Schoendienst, who pulled a groin muscle in yesterday's thriller at Milwaukee, still was hobbled. Normally it takes several days for such an injury to heal.

Neither Manager Casey Stengel of the Yankees nor Fred Haney of the Braves would say positively the two men won't play.

If Mantle can't make it, rookie Tony Kubek probably will be in center field again. Schoendienst's replacement at second base would be Felix Mantilla, the Puerto Rican who did such a fine job filling in yesterday.

Second Time

This will be the second time Buhl and Turley, a pair of fast ball pitchers, have been the opposing pitchers. They started the Saturday game at Milwaukee, won by the Yankees 12-3. Buhl failed to survive the first and Turley was taken out in the second inning.

Turley, 27, didn't have much better luck than Buhl. The right-hander gave up three singles and walked four in 1 2/3 innings.

Stengel will have Don Larson ready in the bullpen if necessary although he probably will start last year's perfect game pitcher in the seventh game—if there is one. Tom Sturdivant and Bobby Shantz will be ready to relieve Turley.

The Braves received a jolt when Warren Spahn, winner of Sunday's 10-inning thriller, came down with a touch of the flu and a sore throat. Spahn will be the pitcher Thursday if the Yankees tie it tomorrow. Lew Burdette, a two-time winner, will back him up.

Against a right-handed pitcher, Haney may use Frank Torre on first base, instead of Joe Adcock, whose single won the fifth game. Del Rice, as usual, will be Buhl's catcher. Bob Hazle, a left-handed batter, may replace Andy Pafko in right field.

Depends on Mantle

The Yankee order depends on Mantle. It is possible Joe Collins

Noonans Feature Of News Article

DR. JOSEPH F. Noonan, former president of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, is the subject of a feature article in last Sunday's edition of a Philadelphia newspaper.

Noonan retired from his post at the local college in Sept. 1955. He is now living with his wife, Helene Schmidt Noonan, in the cooperative apartment house of which he is a member of the board of directors and an active official.

The story takes readers "behind the scenes" into the Noonan's home. Among their comments:

Mrs. Noonan (on retirement): "We not only turned over a new leaf, we practically began a new book. It was a new life, in a new city and in a brand-new house—really, you might call it our first home."

Mrs. Noonan (on campus living): "The houses were big and there was plenty of ground—they were right on campus—but I don't miss them a bit."

On the routine of business life, from Mrs. Noonan: "I don't see much more of Joe now than I did before. Except that he leaves the house later now. On the other hand, he isn't home for lunch, which he was at East Stroudsburg."

Dr. Noonan (on the perils and pleasures of advanced age): "Do what you want to do as far as you're able." "I suppose I do get tired more quickly," Mrs. Noonan adds, "but that's no crime. I take a few hours rest every day and I don't feel a bit guilty or lazy either."

Noonan then said: "I don't want to sound preachy or school-teacherish, but I do find a tendency to self-pity among some older people. If they don't say it, they seem to think: Nobody wants me. Why the world doesn't particularly want anyone at any age—you have to sell yourself and your usefulness just as much when you're retired as you did when you first went looking for a job."

Noonan (on retirement): "You can quote me as saying—and meaning that retirement feels good, as retirement should."

Portland

Mrs. Gladys Carpenter
Phone TW 7-6956

MRS. CARL KRAMER celebrated her birthday anniversary on Sunday, Oct. 6. Tuesday Mrs. Hiram Delp observed her day and Wednesday Mrs. David R. Edwards of the Presbyterian Manse will celebrate her day.

The local tax collector will not be at home on Monday, Oct. 14, for the purpose of collecting taxes.

Communities Present A Conference

ALLENTOWN — Representatives of most of the 23 communities in the Allentown-Bethlehem-Easton area attended a regional planning conference Monday at South Mountain Junior High School here.

Miss Genevieve Blatt, state secretary of internal affairs, was among the speakers which also included Ralph C. Swartz, vice president of commercial operations, Pennsylvania Power & Light Co.; Dr. James C. Cope, director of the Philadelphia Metropolitan Study Committee and staff member of the Institute for Local and State Government at the University of Pennsylvania; and Mayor Orion Reeves of Easton.

Introduction

Mayor Donald V. Hock of Allentown introduced Secretary Blatt, while Dr. Cope was introduced by Mayor Earl E. Schaffer of Bethlehem.

Miss Blatt offered the facilities of her department to assist in the regional planning.

Dr. Cope said, "Regional planning enables the smaller communities to provide the services, economically, demanded by their people. At the same time, it permits each community to retain its identity and continue its home rule."
